Why buy products packaged in glass?

There are two major -- and logical -- reasons for you and your family to think glass when you do your own shopping.

First: As a member of the community, you show pride and support of your glass-making neighbors, and a healthy regard for your economic community.

The second important reason for choosing glass is glass itself. Glass is quality packaging, whether you're buying pickles or pop. Food and drinks taste better in glass. And, after being opened, glass containers are easily resealed to preserve freshness. What's more, you can see what you are buying...a point that the majority of consumers appreciate.

Glass manufacturing was born in Brockway. We have been producing glass containers since 1907. As a Company and a community we all share in the success and responsibility of supporting local industries, like ourselves. We thank and praise those who have played an integral role in our past, present, and future.
In cooperation with the Brockway Borough Police Department and the Pennsylvania State Police, the Brockway Old Fashioned Fourth of July Committee wishes everyone a safe and happy Independence Day Celebration.

Please remember as you celebrate to respect the rights and wishes of others so that everyone can have a wonderful time!
Dennis Haas was born in Buffalo, NY and raised in rural western New York. He attended Iroquois High School and enlisted in the United States Navy in 1968. After boot camp and advanced training he was assigned to the River Patrol Force, CTF-116 in Mekong Delta of Vietnam. During his tour in Vietnam, he was awarded a Bronze Star Medal with “V”, Combat Action Ribbon, Presidential Unit Citation, several Campaign Medals and Unit awards. Upon returning from Vietnam, he attended Parachute Riggers School and spent the next 22 years in naval aviation. Haas retired from the Navy in 1992; from Naval Technical Training Center in Millington, TN as a Master Chief Petty Officer with 24 years of service.

After retiring he trained as an HVAC Technician and worked for the National Park Service at Steam Town National Historic Site in Scranton, PA. Haas also worked as a Service Manager for a large heating and air-conditioning company in Falls Creek, PA. He then worked for the PA Department of Labor and Industry as a CareerLink Specialist in Punxsutawney, PA.

Haas has been married to his wife Barbra for 24 years. They have six children and eight grandchildren.
VESPERS

Come and join the community as we kick off the 49th Annual Brockway Old Fashioned Fourth of July Celebration with Vespers at Moorhead United Methodist Church on Main Street.

Experience fellowship and music as we give thanks to God for the many blessings our great country enjoys and to remember the sacrifices made by the many veterans who have made our country safe.

Program begins promptly at 7:00 pm on Thursday July 2 in the Sanctuary with Rev. David Koehler of the Sugar Hill and Beechwoods Presbyterian Churches as speaker. Religious and Patriotic music provided by the Village Voices.

Service made possible by the Brockway Ministerium.

All are welcome to attend!
Native Americans

Every year our booklet focuses on something special and meaningful to our local area. We have read about local and national events, anniversaries and exposés. Exposés have covered important people who contributed to the development of Brockway as a community including, the Brockways, Clarks and Nichols, and also our local industries of timber, farming, coal, glass, clay and powder metal.

Now we touch on another important aspect of our development, a somewhat forgotten group, the native people that traveled this area as far back as 15,000 years ago. These people were not establishing any permanent settlements as the Brockway's did, but staying in hunting camps. They stayed in areas such as Big Vineyard, which is north of town where the rock shelters provided protection from the elements. They stayed long enough to trap and hunt the abundant bear, fox, beaver, white tailed deer, elk, turkey, mountain lion and wolf, as well as other forest animals.

They traveled, depending on the season, for nuts, berries and roots, and they fished in the pristine streams under the great stands of hemlock, oak, American chestnut and maple. These stands of forest were so dense in places that the sun and stars were blocked out due to the thick canopy of branches and leaves above them. These native people were self-sufficient and found the land plentiful. Traveling from the north down the Little Tobec (Little Toby) to the point where it turns north (Main Street Bridge in Brockway) to meet the Big Tobec (Big Toby later to be called the Clarion), these native people known as the Seneca, were part of the Iroquois Nation. They made this land (now our town) their home.

Reminders or calling cards from their presence can be found by the keen eye in the form of arrow heads, stone axes and other tools along the creeks or freshly tilled ground. Mancala sometimes called bi-pitted stones or nutting stones made on rough sandstone can be found. These game boards have eight dimples carved onto the flat surface in a square of six with the remaining two on each end. This game was played with a pebble, seed or grain. Also many of the names which are important and familiar to us come from this group of people, although anglicized: Toby, Punxsutawney, Allegheny, Appalachian, Kittanning, Susquehannock, Moshannon, Seneca and Iroquois to name a few. Even some of the animals we encounter still bear the names they gave them such as the wapiti or elk, opossum, raccoon and skunk.

Take a moment this summer and explore your surroundings. Visit the Taylor Memorial Museum for their displays. On July 4th, stop by under the trees near the Museum (weather permitting) and speak with George Miller, a local historian, who has explored the area and found their “calling cards”, learn to knap a piece of flint to make an arrow head and to learn some of their customs.

During our celebration, make sure you visit the Carnegie Museum of Natural History on American Indian Adventures at 1:15 PM & 4:15 PM, and Adventures in Archaeology at 2:45 PM at the 9th Avenue Pavilion in the park. You will be amazed at what adventures lie ahead.

Our Native Americans are rich in customs and traditions and should be remembered as we remember our history and customs from our immediate families and those that made Brockway what it is today.

FIREWORKS PUBLIC DISPLAY SAFETY TIPS

The fire department is usually responsible for the public’s safety when a large scale Fireworks display is presented. The actual firing of the display is conducted by a trained pyrotechnic operator and crew. These professionals know and comply with all state and local regulations.

Spectators should obey all ushers or monitors and respect the safety barriers set up to allow the trained operator room to safely do his job. Resist any temptation to get close to the actual firing site.

Although it rarely happens, it is possible that a firework component might fall to the ground without exploding. The public should be cautioned not to touch these fireworks. If they happen to find any which have not exploded, they should immediately contact the local fire or police departments.

Pets have very sensitive ears and the booms and bangs associated with a fireworks display can be quite uncomfortable, particularly to dogs. In fact, the noise can actually hurt their ears. Leave pets at home if you are going to the fireworks show.

Leave the lighting of all fireworks to the trained operator when you attend a public display. Sparklers, fountains and other items that many states allow for use by individuals are not appropriate to use when a large crowd is present. Leave your own fireworks at home - the display will provide plenty of excitement.

FOR YOUR SAFETY, THE FOURTH OF JULY COMMITTEE AND BROCKWAY BOROUGH REQUEST THAT NO ONE SIT ON THE DIKE, TRESTLE OR IN THE IMMEDIATE VICINITY OF THE FIREWORKS LAUNCH. ANYONE IN THE RESTRICTED AREAS WILL BE ESCORTED OFF THE PREMISES.

FIREWORKS PUBLIC DISPLAY SAFETY TIPS

The fire department is usually responsible for the public's safety when a large scale Fireworks display is presented. The actual firing of the display is conducted by a trained pyrotechnic operator and crew. These professionals know and comply with all state and local regulations.

Spectators should obey all ushers or monitors and respect the safety barriers set up to allow the trained operator room to safely do his job. Resist any temptation to get close to the actual firing site.

Although it rarely happens, it is possible that a firework component might fall to the ground without exploding. The public should be cautioned not to touch these fireworks. If they happen to find any which have not exploded, they should immediately contact the local fire or police departments.

Pets have very sensitive ears and the booms and bangs associated with a fireworks display can be quite uncomfortable, particularly to dogs. In fact, the noise can actually hurt their ears. Leave pets at home if you are going to the fireworks show.

Leave the lighting of all fireworks to the trained operator when you attend a public display. Sparklers, fountains and other items that many states allow for use by individuals are not appropriate to use when a large crowd is present. Leave your own fireworks at home - the display will provide plenty of excitement.

FOR YOUR SAFETY, THE FOURTH OF JULY COMMITTEE AND BROCKWAY BOROUGH REQUEST THAT NO ONE SIT ON THE DIKE, TRESTLE OR IN THE IMMEDIATE VICINITY OF THE FIREWORKS LAUNCH. ANYONE IN THE RESTRICTED AREAS WILL BE ESCORTED OFF THE PREMISES.

Brockway All Star Big Band

Taylor Memorial Park
American Legion Memorial Stage
Friday, July 3, 2015
7:30 p.m.

Under the direction of Dr. Bill Stowman & Dr. Brad Genevro, the Brockway All Star Big Band was established to honor Brockway’s rich musical association with jazz and to revive the tradition of enjoying music from the big band era as part of the Old-Fashioned Fourth of July Celebration. Brockway natives Bill Stowman and Brad Genevro, in order to honor their teachers, George Monaco and Don Routch, started the All Star Big Band.

If you long for the sounds of yesteryear and want to embrace a longstanding Brockway tradition, then come out and enjoy the Brockway All Star Big Band as they lead us on a journey through the spectacular big band era and celebrate this truly American art form.
Reverse Order is a dynamic Pop/Rock band that combines powerful lyrics with driving guitars and infectious melodies. Influenced by Maroon 5, Fall Out Boy and One Republic, this National touring band was a finalist on NBC’s America’s Got Talent, has headlined major events, had a Grammy nominated single - “Go” and supported acts for Third Eye Blind, The Backstreet Boys and Avril Lavigne.

From the moment Reverse Order takes the stage, their passion and undeniable energy will be sure to captivate you with a sound that is familiar and inviting.

Join Callanish for an afternoon filled with lively jigs and reels, haunting airs, and rollicking songs that capture the essence and mystic beauty of Celtic music and folklore from the British Isles.

This quartet of musical lassies is sure to get the 49th Annual Brockway Old-Fashioned Fourth of July Celebration off to a rousing start as they weave together Irish and Scottish music and merriment!

Native Americans

Every year our booklet focuses on something special and meaningful to our local area. We have read about local and national events, anniversaries and exposés. Exposés have covered important people who contributed to the development of Brockway as a community including, the Brockways, Clarks and Nichols, and also our local industries of timber, farming, coal, glass, clay and powder metal.

Now we touch on another important aspect of our development, a somewhat forgotten group, the native people that traveled this area as far back as 15,000 years ago. These people were not establishing any permanent settlements as the Brockway’s did, but staying in hunting camps. They stayed in areas such as Big Vineyard, which is north of town where the rock shelters provided protection from the elements. They stayed long enough to trap and hunt the abundant bear, fox, beaver, white tailed deer, elk, turkey, mountain lion and wolf, as well as other forest animals.

They traveled, depending on the season, for nuts, berries and roots, and they fished in the pristine streams under the great stands of hemlock, oak, American chestnut and maple. These stands of forest were so dense in places that the sun and stars were blocked out due to the thick canopy of branches and leaves above them. These native people were self-sufficient and found the land plentiful. Traveling from the north down the Little Tobec (Little Toby) to the point where it turns north (Main Street Bridge in Brockway) to meet the Big Tobec (Big Toby later to be called the Clarion), these native people known as the Seneca, were part of the Iroquois Nation. They made this land (now our town) their home.

Reminders or calling cards from their presence can be found by the keen eye in the form of arrow heads, stone axes and other tools along the creeks or freshly tilled ground. Mancala sometimes called bi-pitted stones or nutting stones made on rough sandstone can be found. These game boards have eight dimples carved onto the flat surface in a square of six with the remaining two on each end. This game was played with a pebble, seed or grain. Also many of the names which are important and familiar to us come from this group of people, although anglicized: Toby, Punxsutawney, Allegheny, Appalachi, Kittanning, Susquehannock, Moshannon, Seneca and Iroquois to name a few. Even some of the animals we encounter still bear the names they gave them such as the wapiti or elk, opossum, raccoon and skunk.

Take a moment this summer and explore your surroundings. Visit the Taylor Memorial Museum for their displays. On July 4th, stop by under the trees near the Museum (weather permitting) and speak with George Miller, a local historian, who has explored the area and found their “calling cards”, learn to knap a piece of flint to make an arrow head and to learn some of their customs.

During our celebration, make sure you visit the Carnegie Museum of Natural History on American Indian Adventures at 1:15 PM & 4:15 PM, and Adventures in Archaeology at 2:45 PM at the 9th Avenue Pavilion in the park. You will be amazed at what adventures lie ahead.

Our Native Americans are rich in customs and traditions and should be remembered as we remember our history and customs from our immediate families and those that made Brockway what it is today.

BUY IN GLASS
SUPPORT YOUR LOCAL INDUSTRY!!

Why buy products packaged in glass?

There are two major -- and logical -- reasons for you and your family to think glass when you do your own shopping.

First: As a member of the community, you show pride and support of your glass-making neighbors, and a healthy regard for your economic community.

The second important reason for choosing glass is glass itself. Glass is quality packaging, whether you're buying pickles or pop. Food and drinks taste better in glass. And, after being opened, glass containers are easily resealed to preserve freshness. What's more, you can see what you are buying...a point that the majority of consumers appreciate.

Glass manufacturing was born in Brockway. We have been producing glass containers since 1907. As a Company and a community we all share in the success and responsibility of supporting local industries, like ourselves. We thank and praise those who have played an integral role in our past, present, and future.
